Publications of Dr. William Dameshek—1922–1947

Compiled by CHARLES C. COLBY*

—: Benzene poisoning and agranulocytosis. (A communication to the editor.) J.A.M.A. 93:712, 1929.
—: Primary hypochromic anemia (erythro-normoblastic anemia); a new type of idiopathic anemia. Am.J.M.Sc. 182:520–553, 1931.

This bibliography is intended to list all publications of Dr. Dameshek appearing in medical journals and texts from 1922 through December 31, 1947.

*Formerly Reference Librarian, Boston Medical Library; now Librarian.

—: Primary hypochromic anemia; II. Clinical features. J.A.M.A. 100:540–548, 1933.
—: Proliferative diseases of the reticulo-endothelial system; II. A leukemic reticulosis; report of a case. Folia Haemat. 49:64–85, 1933.
—: Primary hypochromic anemia (hypoferrism); III. A comparison of certain compounds of iron (including ferrous glutamate and ferrous chloride) in the treatment of hypochromic anemia. West Virginia M.J. 30:193–209, 1934.
—, Berlin, D. D., and Blumgart, H. L.: Complete

—. and Valentine, E. H.: The sternal marrow in pernicious anemia; correlation of the observations at biopsy with the blood picture and the effects of specific treatment in megaloblastic ('"liver-deficient") hyperplasia. Arch.Path. 23:159-189, 1937.

—: Editorial; The hemorrhagic disorders. Blood 1:590, 1946.

—: Editorials; Folic acid; Not so benign “Infectious mononucleosis.” Blood 1:337, 1946.

Estren, S., and —: Familial hypoplastic anemia of childhood; report of eight cases in two

Publications of Dr. William Dameshek—1948–1959

Compiled by Stanley D. Trueolson, Jr.*

(References preceded by an asterisk were not verified by checking the publication itself)

Publications of Dr. William Dameshek—1922-1947

CHARLES C. COLBY