SPECIAL ISSUES 1 AND 2

CONTENTS

NOTE: Simultaneously with the six regular issues of BLOOD 1947, two Special Issues were published: No. 1, Morphologic Hematology, July 1947; No. 2, The Rh Factor, January 1948 (originally scheduled for December 1947). As a convenience to readers, the contents of the Special Issues are given here. Likewise, Volume II index includes complete references to the Special Issues.

Special Issue No. 1

Preface: Morphologic Hematology .................... William Dameshek 1
Introduction ................................................. Oliver P. Jones 3
The Histopathology of Lesions in the Bone Marrow of Patients Having Active Brucellosis ................. R. Dorothy Sundberg and Wesley W. Spink 7
In Vitro Study of Bone Marrow. I. A Method for Marrow Culture Claus Munk Plum 33
In Vitro Study of Bone Marrow. II. Studies of Erythropoiesis Claus Munk Plum 42
Normal Bone Marrow as Obtained by Sternal Puncture Stuart L. Vaughan and Frances Brockmyre 54
Hemograms and Myelograms of the Healthy Female Mice of C-57 Brown and CFW Strains ....................... K. M. Endicott and Hazel Gump 60
Cytomorphological Observations in Hodgkin’s Disease ... J. Fortea-Bover 64
A Physiological Study of Erythroblasts in the Duck H. H. Rostorfer and R. H. Rigdon 75
A Method for the Separation of Leukocytes from Whole Blood by Flotation on Serum Albumin Bert L. Vallee, Walter L. Hughes, Jr., and John G. Gibson, 2nd 82
The Preparation of Morphologically Intact Leukocytes from Peripheral Blood by Means of Gramicidin and Lysolecithin Thomas P. Singer, Ingelore Silberbach, and Samuel Schwartz 88
Comparative Studies of Phagocytosis in Normal and in Anemic Blood L. Joe Berry, Ruth M. Leyendecker, and Tom D. Spies 98
The Influence of Anemia on Phagocytic Functions in Rats L. Joe Berry and Evelyn C. Haller 108
The Influence of Anemia on Phagocytic Functions and Resistance to Infection in Mice ......................... L. Joe Berry and Evelyn C. Haller 117
CONTENTS

Certain Characteristics of the Leukocytes of Guinea Pig Blood with Particular Reference to the Kurloff Body .............................................. Emily Smith 125

Studies on the Adhesion of Human Blood Platelets and Bacteria ................................................................. Ralph B. Houlihan 142

The Adhesion of Dog Platelets to Bacteria ............................................. Ralph B. Houlihan 155

Studies on Platelets. V. The Effect of Platelets on the Surface Tension of Saline Solutions and Heparinized Plasma ............................ Alfred L. Copley and Daniel F. Glaser 161

Studies on Platelets. VI. The Isolation of Platelets from Human and Dog Blood ...................................................... Alfred L. Copley and Ralph B. Houlihan 170

Studies on Platelets. VII. The Agglutination of Platelets Isolated from Human, Dog and Swine Blood. .... Alfred L. Copley and Ralph B. Houlihan 182

SPECIAL ISSUE No. 2

Preface: The Rh Factor ................................................................. William Danesh 1

A Survey of the Significance of the Rh Factor ...................................... Philip Levine 3

The Rh Genotypes and Fisher’s Theory ........................................ R. R. Race 27

Hemolytic Mechanisms .................................................................. William Danesh 43

Generalities on the Nucleolar Content of Some Blood Cells

I. González Gutiérrez 57

Interrelationship Between the Rh System and the A B System ............ Ernest Witebsky 66

Hemolytic Rh Immune Globulins: Evidence for a Possible Third Order of Antibodies Incapable of Agglutination or Blocking

Joseph M. Hill, Sol Haberman, and Frances Jones 80

Acute Renal Insufficiency Due to Incompatible Transfusion and Other Causes, with Particular Emphasis on Management

E. E. Muirhead, A. E. Hailey, Sol Haberman, and J. M. Hill 101

Rh Antibodies; Correlation with Clinical Findings .......................... I. Davidsohn 139

On Certain Variations in Erythroblastosis Fetalis .............................. Bruce Chown 155

The A and B Factors as a Possible Cause of Erythroblastosis

Alfonso C. Vélez Orozco 164

The Treatment of Erythroblastosis Fetalis by Substitution Transfusion

Harry Wallenstein 170

Current Problems Regarding the Rh Factor ...................................... 180

Historical Review of Mexican Blood Transfusion ............................ Eduardo Uribe Guerra 187
