The Division of Hematology and Medical Oncology at Weill Cornell Medicine and New York Presbyterian Hospital (NYP) is seeking an academically oriented board-certified/board eligible clinical hematologist to focus on Non-malignant Hematology at both Weill Cornell/NYP Hospital located on the Upper East Side and NYP–Lower Manhattan Hospital located in Lower Manhattan in New York City. The Non-malignant Hematology Program consists of 5 clinical adult hematologists and includes federally-funded hemophilia, thalassemia and platelet disorder programs. The applicant will develop an outpatient practice caring for patients with thrombotic, bleeding and other non-malignant blood disorders and will interact with tertiary-care surgical, solid organ transplant, cardiac and medical services. The successful candidate will assist in the expansion of hematology services at both campuses and will participate in the clinical, clinical research and administrative activities of the Non-malignant Hematology Program, which provides excellent clinical care and a breadth of research opportunities. Full-time position with competitive salary and benefits. Faculty rank commensurate with experience.

Interested candidates should send a copy of their curriculum vitae to: Maria T. DeSancho, M.D., Associate Professor of Clinical Medicine, Division of Hematology & Medical Oncology, Weill Cornell Medicine, 1305 York Avenue, 7th floor; New York, NY 10021 or Email: mtd2002@med.cornell.edu

Weill Cornell Medicine is an employer and educator recognized for valuing AA/EOE/M/F/Protected Veterans, and Individuals with Disabilities.